

Reaching beyond: Teaching and learning and interdisciplinarity at UBC, Year 1

Project Title: Reaching beyond: Teaching and learning and interdisciplinarity at UBC, Year 2

Project Summary (150 words maximum)

Last year we submitted an application for funding for 3 years. We were funded for one year. The aims, goals and objectives remain virtually the same from last year's application. In this application the ISGP and Green College propose 3 program areas for faculty and students in the graduate programs through which we will promote interdisciplinary teaching and learning at UBC. These include formal and informal teaching and learning activities:

- 1) Further expansion of the student-edited on-line journal in interdisciplinary studies.
- 2) Faculty- and student-initiated credit courses on interdisciplinarity, non-credit workshops, colloquia, retreats, and lectures.
- 3) Support for students to present their academic papers on interdisciplinary studies at academic conferences.
