

Project Title: Preparing students for patient-centred practice in a Type II Diabetes Clinic

Project Summary (150 words maximum)

This project will prepare pharmacy, medicine, dietetics and nursing students to work with patients living with Type II Diabetes. Students from these professions, who play a key role in the management of Type II Diabetes, will be invited to take part in a monthly diabetes clinic. As part of this learning experience, students will:

1. Complete an online preparatory module that will give them a common foundation and understanding of diabetes
2. Review an online case in order to explore the roles of the various professions in the management of diabetes
3. Work with a standardized patient in order to refine their collaborative and communication skills
4. Work with actual patients at the diabetes clinic, as a team, to develop collaborative, comprehensive care plans that addresses the various elements of care needed to manage Type II Diabetes effectively
